30 CHILDREN ABOARD LOST PLANE

B-29 Survivors Spent 'Miserable' 79 Hours

18 Airmen, Taken To Bermuda, Tell Of Big Waves Which Capsized Overloaded Rafts

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 20 (AP) — Eighteen survivors of a B-29 crash off the Bermuda coast spent a "miserable" 79 hours on storm-tossed seas and some were dunked in the water when their rafts capsized, the plane's commander said today.

Lt. Col. John Grable, of March Field Air Base in California, the commander, and other survivors of the crash Wednesday about 400 miles northeast of Bermuda were interviewed at Kindley Field hospital.

The bruised and salt-caked fliers were delivered to the Kindley Air Base by the Canadian destroyer Haida, which had picked them up from the chill waters of the Atlantic yesterday.

Two of the 20 men aboard the B-29 did not survive. The tail broke off the plane when it was ditched out of fuel. It turned nose down in less than a minute.

One of the men who was killed was hurt by wrenched riggers from the air giant. The second escaped injury but was unable to swim against the heavy seas. The men were lost because heavy swells made it impossible to reach them, Grable said.

14 Able To Walk
Fourteen of the survivors were able to walk off the destroyer. Four were carried to the base hospital. One appeared to be suffering badly from shock.

Lt. Cmdr. Edward T. G. Madgwick, Ottawa, captain of the destroyer, said waves 50 to 60 feet tossed the survivors in their rescue boat, which had been dropped to them by a B-17. He said the boat rose so high on the waves the men stepped or were handed across the destroyer's forward deck without using a ladder.

Lt. Cmdr. Alfred A. H. Kerley, Victoria, B. C., said the men seemed pretty dazed when they were picked up.

"We fed them soup and coffee and they wolfed that down," he added. Reporters asked Grable how conditions were during the time on the sea.

"Miserable," was his reply. He said one raft capsized on two different nights but fortunately all the men got back aboard.

The two men who were lost were Cpl. Raymond Breit, 32, Arlington, Calif., who was badly hurt about the head when he was caught by the riggers, and Pvt. Robert Dobson, 19, Decatur, Ill., who was unable to fight the swells and disappeared, Grable said.

Almost Landed Fish
Grable said he caught one fish, a two-foot yellow tail, but lost it trying to land it. It was the nearest they came to landing a fish in three days.

Grable said they were forced to ditch after navigation and radio equipment failed.

Asked where any of the men had showed religious zeal, Grable said: "No one turned evangelist, but we all thought a lot and prayed that we would be picked up."

"What are you going to do?" they were all asked.

"I think we are all going to the church, and then maybe we will celebrate a bit," Grable said.

"What was the main topic of conversation?"

"Move over and give me a little room," but nobody said please."

Grable referred to the fact that the six-man rafts carried nine men each because a third raft had jammed in the tail section and was not recovered.

Denham Praises T-H Oath Section

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, said today the Taft-Hartley Act has "done much to reduce the influence of Communism in the labor movement."

He referred to a section of the 1947 labor law requiring union officials to swear they are not Communists if they want to make use of the board's machinery.

Denham said he didn't think the non-Communist affidavits have "driven Communists or other radicals out of the labor movement," adding that many have never become or attempted to become union officers.

But he said the requirement "had definitely resulted in making most labor organizations Communist conscious, so that they have been officially barring Communists from holding office and some unions now bar them from membership entirely."

Panama Given New President

Police Chief Forces Chanis' Resignation

PANAMA, Nov. 20 (AP) — Police Chief Col. Jose Remon rose as the strong man of Panama today and forced the resignation of President Daniel Chanis, the surgeon-politician who had held office four months.

Vice President Roberto F. Chiari was sworn in as chief executive at 6 a. m. after a feverish night of plans for battle. Last-minute intervention of the diplomatic corps prevented the firing of a shot or the shedding of a drop of blood.

Chanis Marks Birthday
The deposed President observed his 58th birthday at his residence tonight. He said he resigned in order to avoid bloodshed.

He tried to force the resignation of Remon and two chief aides in a battle over monopolies. Instead, they threw him out of office in a middle-of-the-night coup while Panama slept.

Chanis said he ordered the police chiefs' removal because they held interests in virtual monopolies in the beef slaughtering business and commercial bus routes. He said they refused to recognize a Supreme Court ruling throwing the business open to all.

Chanis said the monopolistic new cattle company was built up by executive decrees and was headed by relatives of the late President Domingo Diaz Arosemena, whom Chanis succeeded last July.

New President Recognized
Chanis' friends said he decided Friday night to act against Remon, even though it might mean his job. Remon heads the 2,000 police, Panama's only armed force.

He was out of office in a little over 24 hours.

At 4:30 a. m., Remon announced that Chanis had resigned unconditionally. At 6 a. m. President Chiari was sworn in by the Supreme Court. The police force recognized the new president immediately.

"Voice" Will Use Station In Greece

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—A new radio transmitter now nearing completion at Saloniki, Greece, soon will enable the Voice of America to speak with greater volume behind the iron curtain, the State Department announced today.

The transmitter will be operated jointly by the United States and Greek governments. It is expected to start by early next year.

The "Voice" will use it during the evening to relay American official broadcasts to Communist Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania, and also to Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia. The rest of the time will be used under direction of the Greek director.

An announcement said the new station will enable Balkan listeners who do not own shortwave receivers to hear the American official broadcasts.

Family Stability In Peril, Catholic Bishops Declare

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Roman Catholic bishops of the United States joined today in an appeal for restoration of the virtues and practices guaranteeing family stability and peace.

They said the family faces "a present danger, more fearsome than the atom bomb."

The bishops issued the statement at the close of their annual meeting here which was attended by more than 150 bishops, archbishops and the four United States cardinals.

They called for "a just measure of economic security" and for "social legislation and social action" to "improve man's economic opportunity, to enable him to marry

Levy On Pay Goes Up 50% On January 1

Benefits Schedule Remains Unchanged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP) — A 50 per cent increase in social insurance taxes will go into effect six weeks from today, raising $667,000,000 more a year.

Beginning January 1, employers and employees each will pay 1 1/2 per cent tax on wages and salaries up to a wage or salary maximum of $3,000. The present rate is one per cent. It has been in effect since the system of retirement and survivors benefits was started 13 years ago.

Bill Would Hike Benefits
The schedule of benefits will remain unchanged.

However, under a bill passed by the House and pending in the Senate, both the premium and the benefits would be higher.

Officials predicted the taxes will affect some 39,000,000 workers and 2,700,000 employers next year, requiring employers and employees to share equally in tax payments as high as $90 a person per year. The present maximum is $60.

The higher levy to go into effect automatically on January 1 results from legislation passed in 1948 by the 80th Congress.

The $667,000,000 increase officials estimate in receipts next year is expected to raise total social insurance tax collections to $2,424,000,000 for 1950.

Fund Has Huge Backlog
The benefit payment total, climbing steadily as more insured workers reach the retirement age of 65 or die, is expected to move above $700,000,000 next year.

In the first years of social insurance operation, tax collections have vastly exceeded benefits — as expected — so that the insurance fund has built up a backlog of about $11,600,000,000 for future benefit payments.

Three Robbers Sought After $15,000 Theft
FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 20 (AP) — Three soft-talking robbers early today drove away with an estimated $15,000 worth of jewelry and photographic equipment after holding Charles L. Renaud, his wife and daughter, a young guest and a negro maid prisoner at the residence for more than an hour.

"It wasn't the most daring, but one of the most daring robberies of a residence we've ever had here," Detective Lt. Cato Hightower said.

The Renauds' maid, Mabel Wright, said she discovered the robbers when she got up to let the family's dog out of the house.

Chinese Nationalist Split Widens As Li Enters Hong Kong Hospital

Sen. Knowland Urges U. S. Blockade Reds

HONG KONG, Nov. 20 (AP) — Nationalist China's Acting President Li Tsung-Jen flew to this British colony and entered a nursing home late today.

It appeared as a major development in his split with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek — a deepening cleavage that has set the Nationalists to bickering among themselves while the Communists steadily continue their conquest of China.

Although Li insisted he hoped to return to duty as soon as a serious stomach ailment permitted, he handed his job over to Premier Yen Hsi-Shan, and the Hong Kong press said he might go to the United States.

Visiting Formosa, Nationalist last stand island off the east coast, United States Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) was quoted by Chinese reporters as saying he had urged President Truman to threaten the Communist with a total air and sea blockade.

Knowland frequently has advocated renewed American assistance for the Chinese Nationalists.

U. S. Leaders Seek Answer
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP) — State Department officials disclosed today that former Secretary George C. Marshall, Harold Stassen and other American leaders outside the government have been called in to help find answers to the Chinese Communist upheaval.

These were among a group of 25 men who participated in a recent closed door, three-day session called to aid the work of shaping a current revision of American policy, which now is apparently in its final stages.

What to do about recognizing the new Communist regime and halting the advance of Communism to the rest of the Far East were among questions put up to them by Secretary Acheson. Their views were not disclosed but officials said they were taken fully into account by Acheson and others involved in the China problem.

Heavy Earth Shock Recorded In Alabama
MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 20 (AP) — A heavy earthquake shock, so severe it drove the indicator off the chart, was recorded early today on Spring Hill College's seismograph.

The shock was believed to have centered around the southwest coast of Nicaragua.

The Rev. Louis J. Else, college seismologist, said the tremor was first felt here at 1:44:57 a. m. He placed it about 1,365 miles to the south, probably near San Jose and Managua and said the waves were felt for almost two hours.

Barkley And Bride Arrive In Atlanta
ATLANTA, Nov. 20 (AP) — The nation's number one honeymooners, Vice President and Mrs. Alben Barkley, arrived here tonight in a cheery mood after a 300-mile drive from Nashville, Tenn.

They slipped into the downtown Hotel Ansley quietly. There were few persons in the lobby but news of their presence spread quickly.

A small crowd gathered, along with reporters. The Barkleys were pleasant but left for their room after the Veep engaged briefly in his usual good natured exchange with the press.

Wife Reports American Held By Hungarians
VIENNA, Nov. 20 (AP) — Mrs. Robert A. Vogeler said today her husband, an American representative of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, was arrested in Hungary last Friday and is being held incommunicado.

She said she did not know why. Mrs. Vogeler said in an interview that her husband told her last Wednesday by telephone that he was being followed constantly by Hungarian police.

Vogeler, 38, son of Robert A. Vogeler, Jackson Heights, Long Island, N. Y., is assistant vice president of his company and its representative in Eastern Europe.

He was last seen, his wife said, at 9 a. m. last Friday morning, when he left the American legation in Budapest to return to Vienna.

Food Bank Plan May Strike Snag
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP) — Doubt that Congress would vote financial support stood in the way today of a proposal for a world food bank aimed at moving farm surpluses to needy areas at cut-rate prices.

The proposal will be advanced at the annual meeting of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization convening here tomorrow. The plan will be outlined by FAO Director-General N. E. Dodd, former United States Undersecretary of Agriculture.

An official source said the United States delegation to the 58-nation conference will explain that this country is not able to endorse the food bank plan without congressional approval.

The bank or clearing house would have an eventual capital of $5,000,000,000, the bulk of which this country would be called upon to supply. This country's initial contribution would be about $450,000,000 it was said.

The clearing house would take surpluses supplied by producing areas and sell them to shortage areas. The buying countries could pay in acceptable or convertible currency and get the goods at a cut-rate. Or they could pay in a so-called "soft" or presently inconvertible currency at the full market price.

Transport Policy Board's Creation Will Be Proposed

Increased Efficiency Is Seen By Sawyer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sawyer soon will inform the President that the government needs a central policy body to guide all federal transportation activities, officials reported today.

The report will suggest that coordination of federal programs covering the air, rail, water and highway transport industries could save taxpayers part of the $1,500,000,000 new spent each year by a dozen federal agencies.

The report may call for studies on whether the government should impose "user charges" on the air and trucking lines, shipping firms and railroads which benefit from federal outlays on highways, airports, harbor work and other facilities.

In Rough-Draft Stage
Transportation officials who gave this information privately, said Sawyer's report now is in the rough-draft stage, following talks with the Interstate Commerce and Maritime Commissions, Civil Aeronautics Administration, Bureau of Public Roads, and others.

The high policy board, Sawyer will suggest, should develop a program aimed at an efficient national transport system—with high emphasis on military usefulness—at lowest possible cost in federal outlays.

Officials have in mind that it would resolve such questions as these:

No Route Pattern Now
Should further federal help be given railroads, in view of steadily sagging earnings despite repeated boosts in freight and passenger rates? Or should the government cut its subsidies to airlines, whose growth has hurt the railroads? Or add just rates among the competing forms of transportation to relieve pressure on the railroads?

In addition, it might plan overall route patterns. Rail and air routes are not planned now in relation to service being given by truck or water carriers.

The new agency might develop patterns to discourage a new air service, for instance, if the route were adequately served by rail or other carriers.

Franchot Tone's Ex-Wife, Jean Wallace, Stabs Herself
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20 (AP)—Jean Wallace, 26, stabbed herself painfully early today a few hours after a Christmas shopping tour with the two sons she lost to Actor Franchot Tone in their divorce a year ago.

The blonde, Ex-Earl Carroll beauty took Pascal Franchot, 6, and Thomas Jefferson, 3, to see Santa Claus yesterday afternoon and then had dinner with them in Tone's home.

"Franchot called her and said he had a date," said Mrs. Mary Ingham, Jean's mother. "He wanted Jean to dine with the boys and with my little girl, Karol, who was celebrating her tenth birthday."

Sometime after the children's party, Miss Wallace returned to her mother's apartment.

About 4:30 a. m., Mrs. Ingham said, she was awakened by screams.

Det. J. P. Thedens quoted her as saying she found her daughter in the kitchen with a 14-inch knife in her hand and an inch-deep wound in her abdomen. Mrs. Inghams suffered a small cut on the finger taking the knife from Miss Wallace, Thedens said.

Miss Wallace was treated at George Street Receiving Hospital and then taken to Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital, where her condition was reported not serious.

Search Begins For Dutch Ship Carrying DPs

Transport Missing On Last Lap Of Trip From Africa To Oslo

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 21 (AP) — A Dutch plane with 30 Jewish refugee children aboard was given up as lost today and fear was expressed it had crashed in a wild forest and lake area only a mile from Oslo.

Hundreds of searchers combed the forests around Oslo in the rain and darkness for a sign of the plane, which also carried a crew of four and two Swedish nurses. The hunt was concentrated on Lake Gjerdsjoen, a mile southeast of Oslo, where a sharp flash of light followed by an explosion had been reported.

Aero Holland, owners of the plane, announced at the Hague that it considered the plane lost and relatives of the Dutch crew were so informed. It had been reported missing last night on the last lap of a flight from North Africa to Oslo.

Home Guard Mobilized
The home guard in the districts southeast of Oslo had been mobilized by the Oslo radio. At daylight planes, rescue boats and additional volunteers will join the search.

The plane, a two-engined Dakota transport, was due at nearby Fornebu airport after its midday departure from Brussels, where it had stopped for fuel. But radio contact with the plane was lost, and it disappeared into the cold, cloudy night without a trace. It did not have sufficient gasoline for prolonged flight.

Red Cross auxiliary workers began a wide search around Oslo after there were reports from several places within the district of explosions in the air.

Efforts to verify these reports and localize them were in vain, but Red Cross spokesmen said their search—directed by radio—would continue until the plane is located.

Fornebu airport said the Dutch plane had entered the Norwegian air security control at 6 p. m. (noon EST) and should have landed 15 minutes later at the field.

Apparently Out Of Fuel
It was first believed the plane's radio had failed and that the transport had flown southward to attempt a landing at a home field in the Netherlands rather than risk a night descent without radio contact in Oslo.

Aircraft communications centers continued calling the plane by radio and finally asked through a broadcasting network for public assistance in the search. Airport officials said the weather was favorable but that the plane must have run out of fuel about midnight (6 p. m. EST).

In Holland, airfields were alerted, and tower operators began calling the chartered transport, following a systematic routine. They received no reply, and aviation officials there said the plane's reserve of fuel must have run out.

Republicans Plan Huge Box Supper
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Republicans set out today for a party spirit for 1950 with a huge fried chicken box supper stripped of formalities.

While the Democrats have hired a ballroom in the swank Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York for a $100-a-plate dinner as a fund-raising kickoff for the coming elections, GOP leaders announced plans for a $1 or "bring your own" supper in Ulme Arena here.

The Democratic dinner will be held December 2. Vice President Barkley will make the principal speech and his new bride will be an added attraction. The announced cost is $500,000 for the next campaign.

But, the GOP said today it's going to be no stiff-shirt affair for them this time. Their Lincoln Day box supper February 6 has been tuned to recent pleadings of some of their leaders that the "Grand Old Party" direct more appeal to the "average guy."

Celanese Cafeteria Arbitration Planned

Sidney A. Wolff, New York arbitrator, will hold a hearing here November 29 at the Court House on a dispute between Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), and the Celanese Corporation of America regarding the Amcelle plant cafeteria.

Local 1874 has protested the leasing of the cafeteria to a Chicago catering firm, saying the action constitutes a breach of contract.

The company said the action was part of an overall plan to reduce costs to the point where Amcelle is assured a larger share of the firm's business.

Leslie J. Clark, local attorney; David Jaffe, of the TWU's legal staff, and Local 1874 officers will present the union's case.

Floor Is Damaged

A lighted cigarette dropped in a clump of dried leaves outside the Reinhart Apartment on Sperry Terrace last night burned its way into the building to destroy a small section of the ground floor before being noticed.

East Side firemen said the leaves burned through the sill of a window and ignited the floor. Damage was listed as slight.

Miss Reiley Follows Dolls To Europe

SOMERSET, Pa., Nov. 20 (AP)—Newspaperwoman Peggy Reiley, her luggage crammed with dolls for needy children, will sail for Europe Wednesday aboard the Queen Elizabeth.

Thousands of dolls, collected during a dolls for Europe campaign last August, have been shipped ahead to await Peggy's arrival.

She will distribute them to children in England, France and Germany.

Peggy plans to return in the spring. This is her second trip abroad to distribute dolls. The former Red-Cross worker gained the title of "Doll Lady of Europe" when she gave dolls to German children a year ago.

With them came a new hope that the once robust little girl who preferred to climb a tree or ride a bicycle in place of skipping rope or cuddling a baby doll, would soon be back at her "tomboy" antics.

Last week Johns Hopkins Hospital notified Mr. and Mrs. Bittner that Barbara Anne was once more up and walking around and would be ready to come home shortly.

Over the weekend the happy parents journeyed to Baltimore and now George Bittner believes his girl "may be back at Gephart School in the second grade before the end of the year."

There is one thing more that he has learned: "People that you never even knew can be wonderful and do just everything they can to help sometimes when you least expect it."

Man Loses Leg In Fight Over Woman

Alfred Tingle, 32, of 232 Frederick Street, was admitted to Memorial Hospital Saturday afternoon for amputation of his left leg, shot during a fight involving another man and a woman.

Tingle was reported in good condition yesterday by hospital attaches following the fracas which occurred in the Wiley Ford, W. Va., section near the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

West Virginia State Police said the self-admitted wielder of the 12 gauge double barrel shotgun was Robert Burley, 52, Wiley Ford.

After waiving a preliminary hearing on a charge of malicious assault before Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell, Ridgeley, Saturday, Burley was committed to Mineral County Jail, Keyser, in default of $500 bond.

He faces action in the Mineral County January Grand Jury.

According to Jewell, Burley told him the fracas began when Tingle came to his house and said that a woman, Laura Polk, was upstairs in the Burley residence.

In the ensuing fight, Burley said, he picked up a shotgun and fired at Tingle after being unable to shake himself from Tingle's grip.

The shot struck Tingle's leg, mangled it badly. Oscar E. Long, Wiley Ford, who was hunting in the area, found the injured man and brought him to Memorial Hospital.

Shortly after Tingle was taken to the hospital, Burley surrendered himself to Constable Edgar Shillingburg, Ridgeley, who was dispatched to the Wiley Ford home by Justice of the Peace Jewell.

It reminded me of another kind of service most of us use today—party-line telephone service. He said that party lines mean more service for more people sooner. That's one reason why it's so important that folks continue to use their party lines "sharingly."

Something Mr. Truman Omitted From Comments

In submitting his Marshall Plan report to Congress, President Truman made some pregnant comments on the need for more trade between the Old and New Worlds. The United States, he said, "must be willing to accept more competition from European suppliers in order to help Europe pay its way." The Marshall Plan countries, for their part, must intensify their export drives to the dollar areas. This will require, added Mr. Truman, reorganization of factory methods, more and better machinery, up-to-date merchandising and advertising, etc.

All of which is true, as far as it goes. But Mr. Truman omits one significant factor—the inability of many foreign producers to operate efficiently, if at all, under the laws of their governments. It is interesting to put the White House statement alongside the recent gloomy report of J. Arthur Rank, genius of the British film industry. As Hollywood knows all too well, the British companies have been waging a tremendous campaign to increase exports to the United States. They have made many excellent films, at costs only a fraction of Hollywood's. To protect the British home market, the Labor government has put a quota on American films. But despite all this, the Rank cinema group lost a lot of money in the past year. Consequently, the program up to next June will be sharply curtailed. Unless the financial picture brightens, the whole program will be shut down.

The reason: In Mr. Rank's own words, "the production industry in this country, however ingenious it may be, cannot hope to produce an output of films to compare in box office appeal with those produced in Hollywood" so long as 40 per cent of ticket sales are "ruthlessly seized" in an entertainment tax.

What's happening to the British film industry is happening, in various ways, to British industry in general. The tax burden needed to carry the Labor-Socialist "welfare state" is drying up capital investment and discouraging enterprise by management and workers.

Mr. Truman did not mention those facts of abroad economic life in his dedicated competitor's address—possibly because he has dedicated himself and his party to emulating the British "welfare state."

Eskimos, who had no disease until they had contact with white men, are now being subjected to that white man's plague, the income tax.

Russia's Proposal For Atomic Bomb Inspections

Every few days some hopeful American commentator, in the press or on the air, charges that the United States is being "too dogmatic" in rejecting Russian proposals for atomic bomb control without discussing them.

As a matter of fact, the delegates to the great Western powers have been trying for months to discuss this question with the Russians, but thus far have got nowhere. Russia either refuses to discuss her own atomic bomb or she makes demands in the United States which are absurd on their face.

The other day at the UN meeting Russian Foreign Minister Vishinsky spelled out the Soviet position. Russia has altered her original demand that the United States destroy its A-bomb stockpile before any international inspection and control agency is set up. Now she will agree to "simultaneous" destruction and setting up.

But what does Russia mean by inspection and control? According to Vishinsky, Russia rejects the plan approved by the UN to allocate atomic facilities to various countries on a quota basis. She also rejects any international organ with rights of "ownership, mastery and domination" over any country's (Russia's) facilities. Moreover, inspection can be carried out in Russia only on certain days, like every Monday or every Thursday. The Soviet Union will never permit inspectors "to sit there all the time, like dogs chained to a kennel."

The loopholes in these proposals are so obvious that it would be a waste of time to discuss them in detail. Indeed, the whole discussion seems idle in view of Vishinsky's uncompromising statement that "Russia will continue to make atomic explosives 'for peaceful purposes,' whether any inspection plan is ever accepted or not."

Latest human affliction is television neck, occupying the place in the list formerly held by housemaid's knee.

Shades Of Noah Webster!

Neology is becoming quite a fad, especially among the younger generation, which seems to have no respect for the traditions of language. It looks as though lexicographers are in for a bad time.

Tampering with the language, like so many other things, has been blamed on the Roosevelt new deal which created WPA, NRA, FDIC, OPA and so many other abecedisms. The new deal neologisms were largely unpronounceable, had to be called by their initials, and since they were largely proper nouns did not particularly confuse the common language as she ordinarily is spoke.

Lately, however, the aircraft industry, being relatively new and pioneering in spirit, has been alphabetizing some word inventions into general use. "Jato" has become general usage for "Jet assist take-off" equipment. Every youngster in the land over the age of six probably knows that "fido" means "fog." Intensive, dispersal of, although to the parents of the kids it has to be explained that "fido" is a device for clearing airfields of heavy fog.

Teen-agers have been quick to pick up the new word-building technique. If you hear a youngster say he is going to take his "snoff" to the flickers, you may, with some indignation, get him to explain that a "snoff" is not a girl with whom he goes regularly, only on weekends.

If you still don't get it, he will tell you, if he is feeling patient and indulgent, that "snoff" stands for "Saturday night only, friend, female."

You see how it goes. The "gyppu" is the neighborhood self-serve store—"groceries, yourself, pick up." A "jump" is a bus—"jiggle up, many people."

All of which has inspired us to invent one new word ourselves. It is "pacosif"—meaning "people, all, confusion of, silly language, intended for." Now you try it.

People are being urged to eat larger breakfasts. Business would be helped, also, if more ate before going to work.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Acute And Chronic Bladder Infections

THE BLADDER is a vulnerable organ. It is a tube through which the urine is excreted (urethra). But acute infections (cystitis) are no longer the nuisance they were in the days before the wonder drugs.

Such infections often are referred to as a "cold" in the bladder or kidneys. Frequency of urination, burning, and the passage of cloudy urine are common; now and then there is bleeding. If treated properly, healing occurs in less than 10 days. The trick is to discover the exact causative germ because some remedies work better when the streptococcus is responsible; others if the colon bacillus is the culprit. Pitting the right drug against the organism may eliminate the disorder within 24 hours.

Chronic bladder infections present a more difficult problem because they usually are secondary to abnormalities elsewhere in the urinary tract. Many individuals have suffered for years from bladder symptoms, trying to alleviate distress without submitting to a thorough examination. Some have stones in the kidney; others, ulcer in the bladder or infection in the prostate. Unless these disorders are recognized and treated, the inflammatory changes in the bladder wall will persist. Tuberculosis of the kidney, for example, may go undetected in its early stages because symptoms point to the bladder. Urinary frequency is most disturbing at night and, as the disease progresses, bladder spasms and pain accompany urination. The diagnosis can be made only by X-rays and a study of the secretion of tubercle bacilli. In the past, the infected kidney was always removed but nowadays this may not be necessary; in some instances, streptomycin cures the malady.

Kidney stones encourage infection because of their irritating effect and tendency to produce obstruction. The presence of calculi is suggested when dull aching develops in the small of the back or one side or the other. More often than not, however, urinary symptoms co-exist and the victim is misled into believing that the bladder is the source of trouble. Here again, unless X-rays are taken, the true situation escapes recognition.

In men past 50 years of age, cystitis generally can be traced to the prostate. Enlargement of this organ interferes with bladder drainage and leads to stagnation of the urine. This environment is a fertile field for bacterial invasion which will continue so long as the passageway is partially blocked. Infection in the prostate has a similar effect; microorganisms from the gland have no difficulty finding their way into the bladder. In these cases the wonder drugs are used in conjunction with prostatic massage.

Cystitis sometimes occurs during pregnancy and may follow injuries incident to childbirth which often require surgical repair in order to alleviate discomfort. Many women also harbor infection in the urethra and nearby glands. This leads to burning, frequency, and an uncontrollable urge to go every half hour. One of the most severe forms of cystitis is due to an exsive ulcer of the bladder (Hunner's). The victim complains of severe burning and pain during voiding, and a feeling as tho the bladder were never empty. Detection of the lesion calls for study of the inside of the bladder by means of a cystoscope. Many remedies are available but treatment may be discouraging because of the persistent nature of the ulcer.

Reply: Paralysis of the muscles is the most common cause. This may be due to a nerve disorder or a stroke.

Reply: Any ulcer will perforate if it continues to grow deeper and deeper into the wall of the stomach. This is most likely to occur when the lesion goes untreated.

THE LINE FORMS AT THE RIGHT

pitching horseshoes

by Billy Rose

Stand Up, You Two!

THE following story was passed on to me by one of the field men of the National Labor Relations Board. I'm running it, not because I'm jumble-brained enough to think it proves anything, but because it's an interesting yarn. If you find any moral or message in it—well, remember you're strictly on your own.

In the December of 1947, a strike was called in a textile plant in New England, and when the picket lines first appeared everybody thought they were only part of the usual bluff and bluster that went with contract-renewal time. But as the days added up to weeks and the weeks to months, the townspeople began to worry.

Billy Rose

The strike, as far as anyone could make out, had nothing to do with wages and working conditions, but seemed to be based on the inability of labor and management to sit at the same table without throwing four-letter words at each other. Albert Hanson, president of the textile company, had had one meeting with Burt Murphy, recently elected head of the union, but after a few minutes of invective and table-thumping, both men had stomped out and from then on had refused to talk to each other except through local headlines. And when a National Labor Relations man had offered his services as mediator, he had been told to peddle his papers elsewhere.

To a few insiders, however, the animosity between Hanson and Murphy was nothing new; in fact, it had been going on since they were kids in a village 60 miles north of the mill town. They had competed for the same position on the school baseball team (Albert had gotten it), and pulled the pigtail of the same junior miss (Burt had married her). And they had continued to cat-and-dog it during the years when Hanson was fighting his way up from salesman to plant president and Murphy was organizing the workers.

One day, as the strike was going into its fourth month, the textile man got a note from his old school-teacher, "Dear Albert," it read, "I haven't seen you in almost 40 years, and I'd appreciate it if you would come by the schoolhouse Saturday morning at 10. Sincerely, Anne Peck."

Hanson chuckled at the precise, schoolmarmish handwriting, but he remembered the old lady kindly, and so on Saturday he got up early and drove the 60 miles to his home town. The schoolhouse looked much as he remembered it, and so did the room inside with its neat rows of desks. But the thing that hit him right in the nostalgia was the sight of Miss Peck herself, still sitting behind her desk on the raised platform in front of the blackboard.

"It's been a long time, Albert," she said.

"Not so long as I thought," said her old pupil. "Let's see. Seems I used to sit right over there."

He walked to a desk near the window and wedged his bulk into the seat.

"That's right," said Miss Peck. "Helen Brennan used to sit in front of you and Burt Murphy had the desk on your right. Now, just excuse me until I finish correcting this paper."

Five minutes later, Burt Murphy walked in. There was a grin on his face, but when he saw the textile man he stopped smiling.

"I'm glad you got my note and could come," said Miss Peck. "Do you remember where you used to sit?"

"What's this all about?" asked the union boss.

The old lady looked at him over her glasses. "If you'll take your seat," she said, "the class will begin."

Murphy, to humor her, sat down next to Hanson.

"Things haven't changed much, have they?" said Miss Peck pleasantly. "You're still throwing spitballs at each other, only now they hurt a lot more than they used to. Do you remember how it was with you two in the old days? Most of the time you were pretty good friends, but every now and then you'd get into an argument and make so much noise that none of the other pupils could do any work. And when you did, I'd just stop the class, make you stand up, and tell you to go outside and not come back until you had straightened things out. Sometimes you'd go out in the woods and settle it with your fists, and other times you'd go down to the brook, sit on the bank and talk it out, but you'd always come back smiling. Stand up, you two."

Hanson and Murphy looked at each other and tried hard not to grin.

"Outside!" said Miss Peck. The two men got to their feet and walked out of the room.

"You heard what the teacher said," said the labor leader. "Do we go into the woods and slug it out?"

"You always had a pretty good left," said the textile boss. "How about letting a conciliation board settle our argument?"

"Fair enough," said Murphy, "but I still want to play first base." "All right, if you'll keep away from Helen Brennan!"

"Seeing as how she's my wife," said Murphy, "that's going to be tough. But if you're still stuck on the girl, drop around tonight and I'll get her to fry up an extra chop."

Then the two men walked back into the schoolhouse to report.

Drivers Crash In Oldtown

Clifford Belcher, 19, Washington, Pa., and John Thomas Morgan, 23, Carlos, face hearings today in Trial Magistrates Court on reckless driving charges as the result of a two-car collision Saturday afternoon on Uhl Highway at Oldtown.

According to Trooper John P. Browning, who investigated, Morgan's 1946 model car entered Route 51 from a dirt road at Rose's Tavern and headed toward Cumberland. Belcher in his 1946 sedan, also traveling to Cumberland, crashed against the rear of the Carlos man's machine.

The Washington auto continued 150 feet towards the city on the highway, swerved and tore out three guardrail posts before coming to a stop, Browning reported.

He estimated damage to the Belcher car at $700 and to Morgan's car at $100.

Boxer Fined For Reckless Driving

James Cantanese, local boxer, was fined $10.75 for reckless driving Saturday in Trial Magistrates Court as a result of a two-truck collision Friday night on Oldtown Road.

Magistrate Peter J. Carpentieri acquitted Cantanese of a drunken driving charge, stating that insufficient evidence was presented by City Police.

The 1935 pickup truck operated by Cantanese crashed against the rear of the parked pickup truck of John A. Sensabaugh, 110 North Cedar Street. The boxer was arrested by Officers Kenneth Morrissey and J. W. Brown.

County Bills May Be Delayed

An opinion by Maryland Attorney General H. Hall Hammond that the February General Assembly session will be devoted only to state-wide and emergency measures probably will keep out measures desired by the county, according to Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the Allegany County delegation.

Whitworth informed the Allegany County Board of Commissioners of his opinion over the weekend.

The county board is interested in obtaining legislation to sell a tract of land on the county farm property to a group which intends to erect a baseball field. A smaller tract of land on which is located an old reservoir also may be sold to a private individual.

Whitworth said the county delegation will introduce the bills, but cannot guarantee they will be acted upon due to the ruling of the attorney general.

Two bonding issues which will be used to provide water supplies for LaVale and Cresaptown will not be affected by Hammond's ruling as they are in their nature emergencies.

"Kids' Day" May Net Over $500

The Cumberland Kiwanis Club expects to net over $500 from the sale of apples in its Saturday "Kids' Day" observance.

A total of $637 was reported Saturday night, but this sum will be increased by Albert's Supermarket's donating two per cent of its net profits. Cost of the apples and some minor expenses will total less than $175, it was said.

Other observances of the day included programs at city playgrounds and a "kids' movie" at the Maryland Theatre. A percentage of the theater receipts will help swell the fund.

All of the money collected here will go toward the Kiwanis' Camp Sunshine for underprivileged children on Haystack Mountain.

Mt. Savage Bridges To Be Strengthened

Two wooden bridges at Mt. Savage will be strengthened to allow heavy equipment from the Hazelwood Construction Company to pass safely and quickly to the site of the new million-dollar school for the town, according to County Engineer John J. Smith.

Smith added that cribbing from the Mexico Farms bridge across the C. and O. canal will be used to support the two bridges, thus keeping cost to a minimum.

He also announced that the County Roads Department will have five graders, 12 trucks with attached snowplows and one bulldozer available for snow-removal work this winter.

The usual maintenance and repair work will be continued as long as the weather permits, the county engineer added.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Emile Zola, author of such grimly realistic novels as Nana and Le Terre, also had a neat sense of humor, particularly concerning himself. When R. H. Sherard was collecting notes on him for a biography, Zola told him, "I was writing novels for ten years before I discovered fiction was hardly my forte—but by that time I couldn't stop." "Why not?" asked Sherard. "Because," said Zola, "by that time I was too famous!"

He also bowled Sherard over by saying with a sly grin, "Perfection is such a nuisance that I often regret having cured myself of smoking."

Bernardine Kiely, visiting a wealthy sportsman in Canada, was taken salmon fishing by her host, "I caught one," she cried suddenly. Her host, obviously pained, informed her, "My dear, one does not 'catch' salmon, one 'kills' salmon." Miss Kiely took the correction so much to heart that after driving forty miles to the nearest railroad station, she wired the sportsman, "Happy to tell you that I killed my train."

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Who Knows Best?

FATHER Knows Best, a comparative newcomer on N.B.C. (8:30 p. m. E.S.T. Thursdays), is one of those radio programs that set out to prove a thesis directly opposite to that of its title. Mother knows best, as any red-blooded American is fully aware. At least mother buys the coffee which sponsors this program so she better be portrayed that way.

"The average father," explains Ed James, who writes the show, "thinks he is the head of the house. Actually, of course, his wife is. Everybody knows this—and even father will acknowledge it under pressure."

Though hobbled by this lamentable theory, "Father Knows Best" is a pretty fair show. Robert Young who plays father is a far more expert comedian than I had realized. He is required by Mr. James to put his foot in his mouth at least once in every script, and he does so with as much poise as possible under the circumstances.

He discovers that his seventeen-year-old daughter Betty plans to get married. In trying to break the thing up, he succeeds only in advancing the wedding date six months. Or he becomes suspicious of his sixteen-year-old son's attentions to a burlesque queen and gets mixed up with her himself. Or he tries to take his family to a football game and winds up in the freshman rooting section. Or he gets the whole family in an uproar because two of his teeth have to be pulled. Or... well, never mind.

Young is reasonably sensible, and fairly acid in spite of these indignities. His comments to his children are satiric rather than explosive as is the case with most radio fathers. I can't say as much for June Whitely who plays Mother. Next to Young she's pretty dim and contrived and it's rather hard to understand why so pale a creature should have the upper hand in this house.

In one respect, "Father Knows Best" has made a daring departure from tradition. The Anderson family has three children—sixteen-year-old Betty, and nine-year-old Kathy. Any fool knows that the average American family has but two—one boy and one girl. The addition of an extra whelp into the traditional American litter is almost revolutionary. The children are about as entertaining as children ever are on the radio, which isn't saying much. Betty is one of those aggressive adolescents, alternatively in love with Sigmund Freud, Percy Bysshe Shelley, Clark Gable and Perry Como. Kathy's passion runs toward Sam Spade whose tough conversation she imitates. If Bud has any eccentricities, I haven't discovered them yet.

"Father Knows Best" is a good-humored comedy, but I doubt that N.B.C. will ever regain program preeminence from C.B.S. with this sort of thing. The pursuit of the typical American family has got way out of bounds in radio. It's my guess that radio's typical American families are the first thing the real typical American family will turn off, simply because there isn't much in them they can't duplicate with live actors in their own homes.

I don't know of any character in successful books or plays or movies that isn't a little special in some way. When C.B.S. was in N.B.C.'s predicament a few years ago, it pioneered with types of comedy—"My Friend Irma," for example—which, while they weren't entirely original, were at least new to radio. N.B.C. ought to turn the radio off for awhile and growl among people, those surprising beings. They'd be amazed how many fathers know best.

"The Authority on Authorities"

ONE KIND OF SQUEEZE

"VIENNA COUP" is the title applied by veteran cardmen to some squeeze plays and not to others. They use the term for plays which are prepared by first laying down a high card in some suit, thereby establishing the next lower card in the hand of an opponent, and then squeezing the poor victim between that set-up card and a card of some other suit. It can be done upon occasion with either a single or double squeeze.

Let's admit South took some kind of chance with that bidding, even when the Blackwood convention told him North had the diamond A, but also let's concede that a clear thinker like this worthy has a right to take an occasional chance. Though only 12 tricks appeared after the club Q lead, he brought his project home by means of a nice Vienna Coup.

Bears Beat Redskins, 31-21, Tommy Mont Scores Twice

Former AHS Griddier Makes Both TDs On Passes From Baugh

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (INS)—Johnny Lujack's three touchdown passes paced the Chicago Bears to a 31 to 21 victory today over the Washington Redskins before 30,148 fans at Griffith Stadium.

The Bears also tallied on Sid Luckman's 17 yard toss to Jim Keane and George Blanda's 15-yard field goal.

Washington took a 7-0 lead in the first five minutes when end Herb Schoener picked up Lujack's fumble and scampered 33 yards. But the Bears roared back on Lujack's pitches to J. R. Boone for 40 yards, Keane for 26 and Ken Kavanaugh for 81.

The Redskins held Chicago to one touchdown in the second half and scored twice on Sammy Baugh's passes to Tommy Mont for 30 and 23 yards.

So completely did the Bears dominate the game that they were only forced to punt twice.

Eagles Triumph, 42-0

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20 (AP)—The awe inspiring Philadelphia Eagles treated 22,165 fans to a brilliant exhibition of high powered offensive and rock ribbed defensive football today as the National Football League champions pulverized New York's hapless Bulldogs, 42 to 0 at Shibe Park.

The NFL's leading offensive and defensive combination had a "statistical party" in romping as they pleased to six touchdowns. Each was augmented by automatic Cliff Patton's extra point toe. Dynamic Steve Van Buren led the way to Philadelphia's eighth win in nine league outings and another vital step toward the club's third consecutive eastern division title.

It wasn't so much that the Bulldogs were inept as it was the Eagles were all-powerful. The Philadelphiaans ran, passed, and blocked and tackled like so many perfectionists.

The Eagles picked up 216 yards on the ground and 140 via the air lanes while holding the Bulldogs to 97 yards on the ground and 38 passing.

Rams, Cardinals Tie

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams returned a recovered fumble and a stolen pass into a pair of final quarter touchdowns and then failed on an 11-yard, last play field goal to deadlock the Chicago Cardinals 28-28 in a National Football League thriller today.

It was the Rams' second tie of the season (they battled Pittsburgh 7-7 earlier) and kept them one game ahead of the Chicago Bears in the Western Division title scramble.

The Cardinals' hero for a Comiskey Park crowd of 34,100 fans was rookie Tom Fears, 210-pound end from Furman.

After Tom Kalmanian scampered 51 yards in the last seconds to the Cardinal 28 and Bob Waterfield passed to Tom Fears for 24, there was only time for one play.

Waterfield, the kicking specialist, tried a field goal from the 11 and Wham popped through the Ram line to block it as the game ended. Score by periods:

Hott Receives Two Awards At Baseball Feed

75 Attend Annual Interstate Affair

George Hott, Moorefield's slugging shortstop, took two awards for leading batter and most two-base hits, at the annual shrimp and oyster feed given last night by the Interstate Baseball League at the Good Fellowship Club, Virginia Avenue.

Approximately 75 guests attended the affair which was presided over by President John J. Long, who also made the presentation of awards.

In addition to Hott, six other players were presented with prizes for outstanding achievement during the 1949 Interstate baseball season.

Blaine Turner, Romney, was the top batter in the league, Gene Stair of Hyndman had the most triples, Dick McElwee of Romney stole the most bases and Pete Cecil stole the most bases and Pete Cecil stole the most bases.

Each was given a prize by Long. Long thanked the committee of arrangements for the success of the dinner and introduced several guests to the affair before giving out the awards.

The loop prey, serving his fourth year as head of the eight-team circuit, told those present that the league had finished in the black financially and appointed a committee of three to audit Secretary-Treasurer Bob Whip's books before the next meeting in February. The committee will make the final report at that meeting.

Members of the audit committee are Roy Clites, Hyndman, A. Lowe, Ridgeley and Arno Shingleton, Romney.

Guests at the feed who were introduced by Long were Carl "Pete" Dicken and Howard "Farmer" Northcraft, officers of the Interstate Baseball League, John Schwarzenbach, and others.

Representatives of the clubs spoke briefly during the affair and Umpire-in-Chief Bill Spangler, thanked everyone for the fine cooperation received by the league arbiters during the season.

Teams present were Moorefield, playoff winner, Hyndman, Romney, Everett, Moose, Centerville and Ridgeley. Bedford was not represented.

Two Dons Injured
BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (INS)—The Los Angeles Dons remained in the running for the All America Conference title today by defeating the Baltimore Colts 21 to 10 before 19,500 fans in Babe Ruth Stadium.

The victory was costly for the Dons left behind in Baltimore Union Hospital end Dick Wilkens, with a broken collarbone, and tackle Bill Henke, with internal injuries.

Los Angeles Halfback George Tallaferro was the standout star of the Dons, scoring two touchdowns in the first period on 20 and 40 yard runs. The Dons third touchdown in the second period came when Fullback Hosea Rogers plunged over from one-yard line after a march down the field with Tallaferro doing much of the ball carrying. Center Bob Nelson made good all three extra points.

The Colts scored in the first period when Halfback Billy Stone scampered 32 yards across the goal on a handoff. In the second period Rex Grossman kicked a 44-yard field goal for the Colts, second longest of the All-America season.

Otto Graham's Passes Defeat Yankees, 31-0

Cleveland Clicks 19 Times, 34 Tries

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (INS)—Otto Graham pitched the perennial All-America Conference champion Cleveland Browns to a 31 to 0 victory today over the New York Yankees.

Peerless Otto unveiled his passing wizardry before 48,969 fans at Yankee Stadium and before the first half was over there was little doubt that the Browns were going to bowl over the New Yorkers for the tenth time.

Graham's passes figured in all Cleveland's scores in the first two periods. He completed 15 of 22 passes for a total of 308 yards.

Teaming with his "battery," Mac Speedie, Graham wound up the afternoon with 19 completions out of 34 attempts and 382 yards.

Speedie erased two AAC records. The glue-fingered end caught 11 passes for 228 yards to bypass his old records of 10 catches and 209 yards.

Bills Trim Hornets

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 20 (INS)—The Buffalo Bills of the All-America Football Conference proved to be superior mudders today and defeated the Chicago Hornets 10 to 0 before a shivering crowd of 18,494.

The field was a sea of mud from the heavy rain and snow of the last three days. The game, played under the lights during the last period, was the final one for the Bills at home and the win put them into fourth place in the standings.

The scores for the Bills were made on 79-yard runback of a Chicago punt by Bob Livingstone, former Hornet backfield man who recently was bought by the Buffalo Club, and an 18-yard field goal by Tackle Chet Adams. The Hornets earlier beat Buffalo by a 17-14 score in Chicago.

George (The Kid) Ratterman, playing his last game before home town fans before joining the New York Bulldogs as quarterback next season, tried only four aerials. He completed one for 20 yards.

Pittsburgh Downs Green Bay Packers

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 20 (AP)—Pittsburgh's single-wing power, helped by pin point passing on the part of Bobby Gage and Joe Geri, gave the Steelers a 30-7 National Football League victory today over Green Bay.

The victory moved Pittsburgh into second place in Eastern Division standings and dropped the Packers into a deadlock with Detroit in the west.

The Steelers never were headed after a second quarter touchdown. They added another in the third and two more plus a safety on a blocked punt in the fourth to crush the Packers, who threatened only twice after scoring their lone touchdown in the second. Score by periods:

Pittsburgh Steelers 0 7 7 16—30
Green Bay Packers 0 0 7 0—7, in other top games.

Bears, Buckeyes Await Nods For Rose Bowl Game

Conference Titles At Stake This Week

By JOHN CHANDLER
NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—With California and Ohio State awaiting official nods for Rose Bowl designation, college football turns this week to several ancient rivalries and conference scraps from which additional New Year's Bowl teams will emerge.

Topping the rivalry list is Saturday's affair at Philadelphia, where Army presents its undefeated record to Navy and asks the Middles what they're going to do about it. Both Army, the nation's No. 4 team, and Navy were idle last week.

And Philadelphia gets another humdinger Thursday, Thanksgiving day, when Cornell and Pennsylvania clash in their annual game—this time for the Ivy League championship.

Bears Score 10th Win
The undefeated Bears of California, who clunked Stanford 33-14 Saturday for their 10th victory of the season, not only won the Pacific Coast Conference championship, but another trip to the Rose Bowl. Only the formality of the vote by faculty athletic representatives Monday is required.

Big Ten officials are expected to give Ohio State the "go ahead" signal for the trip to Pasadena and the big bowl prize Jan. 2, but the faculty representatives aren't bound to the Buckeyes.

Ohio State battled from behind Saturday to gain a 7-7 draw with Michigan and tie for the Big Ten title. Michigan isn't eligible to return to the Rose Bowl, having played there in 1948.

Minnesota, which beat Ohio State earlier this year, 27-0 dumped Wisconsin, 14-6. Had Ohio State lost to Michigan, the Conference fathers could have sent Minnesota westward—and there is still a bare chance. The decision is due tomorrow.

Half a dozen conference championships remain to be settled this week. The Rice Owls and Baylor Bears meet Saturday at Houston for the Southwest Conference crown, and a spot in the Cotton Bowl. Down in New Orleans, Tulane faces Louisiana State, with an eye on the Sugar Bowl.

Baylor downed Southern Methodist Saturday, 35-26. Rice kept its place atop the conference by beating Texas Christian, 20-14.

Tulane bounced Virginia out of the undefeated ranks last week, 28-14, in a non-conference game. Tennessee upset Kentucky, 6-0, dimming the Wildcats Southeastern Conference and bowl hopes. All Tulane must do to clinch the conference crown and probably get a Sugar Bowl bid is beat Louisiana State at New Orleans Saturday.

North Carolina, victor over Duke, 21-20, collared the Southern Conference crown. This gave North Carolina five conference wins without defeat, compared to a four and none record for Maryland. North Carolina, three-beaten, plays Virginia at Durham, N. C., Saturday, with both still hopeful of a bowl bid somewhere.

Terps Have Bowl Hopes
Maryland also has bowl hopes. Beaten only by Michigan State, Maryland must get past West Virginia Thursday at College Park, Md., and Miami, Fla., there, Dec. 2.

Powerful Oklahoma, rated the No. 2 college team right behind Notre Dame, ran into trouble before finally defeating Santa Clara, 28-21. With a Sugar Bowl bid virtually assured, Oklahoma tackles Oklahoma A. & M. Saturday at Norman.

Notre Dame, hoisting to 36 its string of games without defeat, blasted Iowa, 28-7, after a rugged first half. The Fighting Irish retained Southern California, 21-7 victor over U.C.L.A., at South Bend, Ind., Saturday.

Villanova, beaten only in an upset by Tulsa, 21-19, slapped down North Carolina State Saturday, 45-21, and could be headed toward one of the major bowls—perhaps the Orange. That ended the Villanova regular season.

Yale trounced Harvard, 29-6, in their Ivy roundup, and Princeton knocked out Dartmouth's chances for a tie for the title, 19-13.

Purdue kept the old oaken bucket by beating Indiana, 14-6; a field goal gave Northwestern a 9-7 verdict over Illinois.

Michigan State ending a western invasion which saw Oregon State score an upset Nov. 12, took it out on Arizona Saturday night, 75-0. Oregon State took Oregon, 20-10, and Washington trimmed Washington State, 34-21.

Little St. Bonaventure upset Boston University—beaten only by Maryland previously—19-0. Pitt downed Penn State, 19-0. Syracuse outscored Colgate, 35-7. Georgia overwhelmed Duquesne, 40-0, and Georgia Tech stopped South Carolina, 13-3. It was Missouri 34, Kansas 28; Nebraska 25, Colorado 14; and William and Mary 20, Arkansas 10.

The invocations were given by Brother Gregory of LaSalle High School.

Bill McGowan Says Joe DiMaggio Greatest Player In Junior Loop

200 Attend Banquet Of Dapper Dan Club; Charter Is Received

Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankee outfielder, is the greatest player he has seen perform in the American League during his 25 years experience as an umpire in the junior circuit, William "Bill" McGowan told a gathering of approximately 200 guests who gathered yesterday at the Knights of Columbus Home for the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club's second annual charity banquet.

McGowan, who was the principal speaker at the charter presentation affair, told those present that many are of the opinion that Ted Williams is the greatest player in the A.L., but "Bill" said he disagreed with this viewpoint, adding that there is nobody in DiMaggio's class.

The veteran arbiter stressed the Yankee's greatness as a "clutch" hitter and despite the fact Williams' batting average is above that of DiMaggio he still picks Joe as the greatest player.

McGowan's talk was interspersed by several funny stories about major league players.

Recalls Grove's Feat
The "strong, silent man" spoke of Lefty Grove's major league performances and said the latter's greatest feat was striking out Tony Lazzari, Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth with the bases full in a game at Shibe Park between the Athletics and Yankees.

Peter J. Carpentri, president of the local club, delivered the address of welcome and thanked Chairman James Wilt, of the committee on arrangements and Karl Kolsh, chairman of the entertainment committee, and others for their efforts in making the affair a success. He pointed out that the club had 60 paid-up members a year ago and now has over 200. A banquet, basketball game and boxing show sponsored by the club netted $250 for the Allegany County League for Crippled Children and $120 for the Police Boys' Club, he added.

Paul M. Fletcher, assistant state's attorney, acted as toastmaster, and the first speaker he introduced was Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan, who was representing the mayor and council. Keegan read a letter from Coach Herman Ball, of the Washington Redskins, who regretted his inability to come here for the affair.

Lee Congratulates Club
Lee "Jeep" Handley, former major league infielder, congratulated the local club on the wonderful work it is doing. He said he was glad to see and meet "Lefty" Grove—the greatest lefthander in baseball—and remarked that this was the first time he saw Walter "Mike" Milligan, coach of the Pitt Panthers, happy this year. Pitt closed its season with a victory over Penn State on Saturday.

"Lefty" Grove recalled that McGowan umpired in the International League when he was with Baltimore and added that the arbiter gave him "a long and dirty look" on a number of occasions but never tossed him out of a ball game.

Al Abrams, Pittsburgh sports editor, and national president of the Dapper Dans, said Cumberland is considered one of the best of the 52 clubs in the organization and urged it to keep up the fine work.

Milligan lauded the Dapper Dans for their fine contributions to humanity. He said he had good reason to feel joyful now that the grid season has ended but expressed sadness because of the fact that Pitt will lose two of its greatest backs—"Bimbo" Cecconi and Jimmie Joe Robinson—for next season.

Ecker Presents Charter
I. Elmer Ecker, Pittsburgh attorney, and national vice president of the Dapper Dans, presented the Cumberland club's charter to President Peter J. Carpentri.

Among those introduced were William C. Walsh, former Judge William A. Huster, William Lemmert, William A. Buchholtz, Edgar H. Reynolds, Meyer (K.O.) Christner, Carroll Boggs, Homer Brooks, Charles Z. Heskett, John J. McMullen, G. William Bibby, James Jenkins, John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh and Thomas B. Finan.

The entertainment was provided by Luke Barnett, Pittsburgh, who always scores a big hit with his heckling, impersonations, etc., and Karl Delaney, of Kingwood, W. Va.

The invocation was given by Brother Gregory of LaSalle High School.

Fireworks To Be Set Off At College Tonight

Display Highlights Anniversary Program

FROSTBURG—An exhibition of fireworks, consisting of two elaborate set pieces and hundreds of aerial lights and bombs, will be shown tonight at the athletic field of Frostburg State Teachers College.

The fireworks will be the first of a number of events scheduled in observance of the 50th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of the first building of the college.

The fireworks will be set off by Bert Caldera of Mt. Savage, who will be assisted by five men.

Caldera requests that no spectators stand on Park Avenue while the fireworks are being fired and has also made an appeal to the city fathers to have the avenue blocked off to prevent the movement of cars while the display is under way.

Thirty members of Company D, 115th Infantry, Maryland National Guard and male students from the college will be present to keep spectators off the athletic field and from standing outside the iron fence on Park Avenue.

The Frostburg police force will be assisted by state police from the LaVale barracks to direct traffic and to prevent accidents.

The display will start at 7:30 and continue for an hour. In the event of rain, the fireworks will be set off Tuesday evening at the same hour. Members of the Frostburg Fire Department will assist the committee in charge of the display.

Other events to be held in connection with the 50th anniversary observance will be a Golden Anniversary Tea from 3 to 5 p. m. Sunday, December 4, in the college dining room.

On December 14 at 8 p. m., Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools, will deliver an address in the college auditorium in connection with a musical by the Maryland Singers under direction of Prof. Maurice Matteson.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 20 (INS)—Looks as if it is a rebellion with some of the Selznick players. Shirley Temple doesn't want to go to Europe and hopes to go to Hawaii instead, with her father and mother and baby daughter, after her divorce December 5.

Louis Jourdan, best man at David's wedding, is still bitter toward him. He went on that personal appearance tour which was a terrific flop. He argues that Selznick put him in a terrible rut and makes no effort to lend him for Shirley Temple good pictures. Mrs. Jourdan went to New York to be with Louis, who has really been in a state over all this trouble.

Talk is that Louis and Guy Madison may go into court to see what they can do about breaking their contracts with Selznick. Louis and Guy are on suspension.

Ruth Roman, who is being groomed at Warners for bigger and better roles, draws Randolph Scott as her next movie partner. She will have to watch her step so that she doesn't get the Scotts mixed up, because Zachary Scott is also in "Code 45."

I am singing June Haver's praises because June and a company of 20 singers and dancers plane out of here December 18 to put on Christmas and New Year's shows for our Air Force men still stationed in Berlin.

June and these kids are giving up their own Christmases with their families to make the Yuletide brighter for the homesick men. I might add that June is giving up a $7,500 a week engagement at a Chicago theater to make that jaunt.

Chatter in Hollywood: Elizabeth Taylor is finding being a star has its unhappy side. She can't go anywhere with any young man without having it blasted all over the world. Her latest crush is Vic Damone. They go horseback riding practically every afternoon. He is as ga-ga over her as all the other boys who meet her.

The command performance in London Thursday night is reported as the best yet. Ben Lyon, as master of ceremonies, covered himself with glory.

After the show the entire cast was presented to King George. Queen Elizabeth and the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret. Princess Elizabeth talked at length with Rosalind Russell, Greer Garson, and Bebe Rezzano.

Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon scored singing a "Mrs. Miniver" parody, paraphrasing the old song, "Oh Mr. Gallagher, Oh Mr. Shean." The top English stars, Margaret Lockwood, Ralph Richardson, John Mills and Anna Neagle appeared with our Hollywood stars.

Donna Reed, who has been sick since the birth of her baby, is up and around and on crutches. Her doctors are puzzled at the condition of her legs, which makes it painful for her to walk. She seems to be suffering from something similar to arthritis, and may be on crutches for some weeks.

One ray of light in all this is that Donna is good in her last picture, "Chicago Deadline."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Cary Grant will get in tomorrow from New York. It won't surprise me if Betsy Drake becomes Mrs. Grant by Christmas.

Dore Schary is on the same train, returning from his triumphant trip with "Battleground." Dickie Moore, a few years ago an enchanting child star, will be a father in May. His wife is the former Patricia Dempsey. Dickie, who is making a picture at Monogram with Roddy McDowall, has asked him to be godfather.

The reason Judy Holliday is in New York is because she has her eye on Cole Porter's new musical, "Summer Lightning"—and looks like she will get it.

Lana Turner's hair has changed from golden to silver—the latest gasp in coiffure color.

Andy Devine got plenty of applause in San Francisco where he went to appear for the Variety Club charities.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

B. And O. Plans Office Transfer

The transfer of the Cumberland Division accounting offices of the B. and O. Railroad to Baltimore on January 20 has been reported by reliable sources here.

More than 25 employees in the accounting offices here will be affected by the transfer. Most of them have 25 or 30 years seniority and some may elect to stay here in other departments.

The transfer is part of the B. and O.'s general program to bring all existing clerical positions into regional offices except the Tonnage Bureau which will remain at the several cities under jurisdiction of the division superintendent.

A protest from the Brotherhood of Railroad and Steamship Clerks unit here when the announcement came out in August, deferred the move from its first scheduled date on October 1.

An effort to have the transfer cancelled and have Cumberland designated as a regional office with the Grafton and Wheeling offices set up here failed.

Final "Messiah" Soloist Named

Whether your jewelry is frankly fake or priceless in value, it must be worn with discrimination.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

EVER if you are one of the lucky women who own a vault of precious gems, you won't be able to enjoy their full beauty unless you wear them with taste and discretion. Whether fabulous or fake, you must observe carefully the "what-when-and-how" of wearing them.

Every jewel you wear, no matter what its value, must be appropriate to the time of day. Your daytime suit may cry out to be "jeweled" but elaborate evening jewelry, real or costume, will not serve for the suit or the hour. Since your appearance should always achieve a quiet restrained look for the street, office, or shopping tour, on these occasions select the jewelry that also has an understated manner.

Daytime Perfection
A strand or two of choker pearls with any costume worn from nine to five will speak softly of your good taste. A pearl-button earring is an appropriate addition. You can with safety also clip one or two scatter pins to your lapel or scarf. (Fashion note: Scatter pins are being designed now in larger sizes and therefore will be in better proportion to the tall or heavy figure.)

You can also slip on your favorite ring with perfect propriety. I don't have to tell you that fake stones in a ring are taboo and I can't tell you why you can wear them on your lapel but not on your hand. Maybe, it's because the ring on the third finger of your left hand has so much value, both real and sentimental. Lastly don't forget to wear your watch so you'll know when it's time to think about your evening hours.

After Dusk Drama
As night falls, you can let yourself go and break out in whatever share of a king's ransom you own. Long strands of pearls or jeweled necklaces are new to fill in a deep V neckline. Wide choicers of multi-colored stones have been designed with drop earrings to match for dinner suits and dresses. The intricately fashioned gold and silver bibs will bring a touch of glitter to your high necklines. You can adorn your wrists with as many bracelets as your heart desires as long as they are in keeping with your neckline.

You might leave your watch at home. I don't think you'll much care what time it is!

Tomorrow: Tongue tips!

B. And O. Plans Improvement Program

Modernization and improvement projects scheduled to cost $250,000,000 in the next five to 10 years will be outlined today at a meeting of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad stockholders in Baltimore.

Since 1941, the program has involved expenditures of $258,000,000. The improvements are the result of a survey of the line made under the auspices of the magazine, Modern Railroads. The system was picked for study because the line, oldest in years, has shown it is young in initiative.

The management has a goal of cutting the fixed and contingent charges to $20,000,000 from the $26,000,000 of 1948, while it effects additional coal economies.

The report will note that the Diesel-powered strata-domed Columbians have experienced a 15 per cent traffic increase from 1948 with the trains earning about $5 per mile.

Of Ohio's 220,000 farms, 98 per cent have electricity.

4 Race Horses Killed As B.&O. Train Hits Van

Yearlings Owned By Charles C. Cameron Were To Train Here

A trailer carrying eight yearling race horses was struck by a Diesel-driven B. and O. freight train near Fairgo yesterday killing four of the thoroughbreds and injuring the others, probably permanently.

The animals, all purchased at a breeders' sale in Lexington, Ky., by Charles C. Cameron, 718 Gephart Drive, were within 100 feet of their destination, where they were to be trained for the fall season.

Investigating officers said the tractor-trailer became lodged on a small, sharp rise at the B. and O. crossing on Fairgo Road just seconds before the train appeared in the distance, heading toward Cumberland.

The driver, George Karesh, 44, and Edward Wellst, Jr., a son of the transportation owner, both of Chicago, along with Jesse Mack, a negro groom, escaped before the train struck and demolished the 40-foot long trailer.

Maryland State Police said the train was drawn by a Baldwin Diesel locomotive, which is being tested here by the B. and O. The locomotive which was scheduled to leave Thursday for tests on other lines throughout the nation was badly damaged.

Pulled Off Crossing

Lt. W. E. O'Hara, Maryland State Police, said the trailer earlier had been caught momentarily on a railroad crossing in Cumberland but had managed to pull off it.

Karesh, the driver, told police that after the train had splintered the trailer and carried it for a distance of about 110 yards, three of the animals kicked their way from the debris and walked away. Three more were killed instantly and one had to be destroyed.

Dr. C. N. Poose, Jr., local veterinarian, explained that the remaining four animals were so badly injured that it is doubtful if any will be fit to train for the racing business. He told of closing deep wounds on all of the remaining animals.

Cameron said last night that several of the horses came from good blood lines and added "several thousand dollars" had been paid for the eight animals at the auction.

Police quoted the driver as saying the tractor part of the vehicle crossed over the grade without incident but the trailer, which is unusually low in construction, caught on the rise just in the middle.

Efforts to back the vehicle or move it forward were in vain, although police said there was evidence of strain having been placed on the tractor wheels. The tires were badly worn as the result of spinning in attempts to free the trailer.

Too Late To Flag Train
Almost at the same incident that the trailer was caught, police said the train appeared in the distance. Wellst told police he began running up the tracks toward the approaching train in an attempt to flag it down but was too late.

Three of the animals lay within a few yards of the crossing as workmen began to clean away the debris. The others were moved to a nearby stable and it was here that the fourth animal was destroyed. It had suffered severe internal injuries, Dr. Poose explained.

Investigating officers said Cameron purchased the eight animals at the annual yearling sale conducted by the Keeneland Sales Association in Lexington. The sale ended Thursday.

The driver told police he left Lexington at noon Saturday and had been on the road since. Across the tracks there lay only a short road-way before the vehicle would have entered the Fairgo grounds. The stables where the horses would have been quartered were less than 100 feet beyond the gate.

Wellst, whose headquarters are in Chicago, said he understood Cameron planned to break and train the horses here and have them in condition to make their debut as two-year-olds at the Cumberland racing meet in late summer or early fall.

Police said the locomotive was being engineered by William Henry, Cumberland, B. and O. supervisor of motive power, and was on a test run between Grafton, W. Va., and Cumberland. Walter Newcomb, representative of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, was in the locomotive cab at the time of the accident, police said.

Termed Unavoidable

Investigating officers termed the accident unavoidable and said no charges would be preferred. The locomotive left the scene under its own power, but the front end was badly damaged.

Dr. Poose said that at least one of the other animals may still have to be destroyed, but explained some may later be usable as riding horses.

Hand For Investigation

A man booked as Dale Albright, Columbia Street, was being held in Allegany County Jail last night for "investigation" after being arrested Saturday at 9:10 p. m. by Officer Richard Lashley, of the Cumberland Police Department.

A Smile That Shows All's Well Once More

Winsome Barbara Anne Bittner, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bittner, Bedford Road, was back home today "apparently fully recovered" from the effects of thrombocytopenic purpura, a disease that threatened to end her young life, while her parents suspected that playmates were striking her and causing the warning bruises that appeared on her body. Later, however, severe hemorrhages resulted in Barbara Anne traveling over 1,600 miles to three hospitals and eventually undergoing an operation at Johns Hopkins, where she is pictured above with Nurse Ruth Trombo, as she recovered strength prior to starting for home over this past weekend. Fish And Game Adopts Policy On Suggestions

Following its meeting here October 28, the Game and Inland Fish Commission has formulated a plan of action pertaining to proposals of area sportsmen regarding changes in fish and game regulations, according to Harold Smith, collector, executive secretary.

Kolmer notified clubs and sportsmen here that "The Commission set October 1 for final receipt of all petitions pertaining to fish, and April 1, for all petitions pertaining to game. Otherwise, same will not be acted upon at April and October meetings."

In explanation of this policy, Kolmer explained, "If a club desires to petition the Commission on any subject pertaining to fish or game, particularly to open and close seasons, bag limits, creel limits, etc., the petitions must be in the office of the Commission not later than October 1 or April 1 of the year in which the petition is filed."

All petitions must be signed by 50 residents, 25 of whom must hold hunting license or anglers license and 25 of whom should be valid farmers.

Many sportsmen here think some seasons are too early, others believe the season is too short or too late. At the hearing and conference here, many suggestions for a uniform plan and single season were offered.

Disabled Vets May Get Insurance

Disabled veterans, who might not otherwise qualify for life insurance for health reasons, may reinstate their National Service Life Insurance or buy additional or new insurance up to $10,000, if they do so before January 1, 1950.

W. L. Limburg, regional manager of the Veterans Administration in Maryland, said yesterday that, until this date, disabilities occurring in service between October 8, 1940, and September 2, 1945, if less than total in degree, will be disregarded for NSLI health requirements.

He added that a physical examination is required for insurance applied for under this special provision. Such examinations are made by the Veterans Administration without cost, Limburg added.

Heavener Talks In Farm Youth Contest

Douglas Heavener, this city, represented Allegany County in a state elimination speech contest sponsored by the Maryland Farm Bureau at the University of Maryland yesterday.

Fred Hays, Barnsville, Montgomery County, who won the contest, will compete in the National Rural Youth Talk Fest December 15 in Chicago.

Postoffice Buys Christmas Stamps

The Cumberland Postoffice is ready for the Christmas season with 1,250,000 two-cent stamps for greeting cards.

For those who prefer to seal their Yule greetings, 1,000,000 three-centers have been purchased.

Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said this amount was the same as ordered last year. The local post-office does not expect a larger season than last.

He explained that the money value of stamp sales has remained about equal to the total in 1948. But, since postal fees are increased, this would indicate fewer purchases.

St. John's Plans Thanksgiving Service
Rev. Donald F. Burke, pastor, will speak on "Count Your Blessings" at the annual Thanksgiving Day Service of St. John's Lutheran Church Thursday at 9:30 a.m.

By JOHN P. MOODY
News Staff Writer

Seven-year-old Barbara Anne Bittner, whose bruise-covered body was once blamed on her playmates but really resulted from a blood condition that carried her close to death, is home today well and happy. Four months of constant fear that the slightest touch might inflict a new bruise and start the final hemorrhage of her young life has been erased by medical care that carried her over 1,600 miles into three hospitals and a life-saving operation.

Barbara Anne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bittner, Bedford Road, first became aware of her affliction, which has been medically diagnosed as thrombocytopenic purpura, in August while she was enjoying school vacation.

"We thought the bruises that started to cover her body were the result of older playmates striking her," George Bittner explained yesterday. "Then a nose bleed that lasted 24 hours proved otherwise."

The child was taken to Memorial Hospital where she was given the first of what was to prove numerous blood transfusions there and in two more hospitals, for from there Barbara Anne was taken to Children's Hospital in Boston.

Two weeks of constant treatment with a new drug has proved helpful in building up the body platelets that are affected by thrombocytopenic purpura did little for the Cumberland girl and it was then that a splenectomy was recommended.

Medical personnel in Boston told the Bittners that the operation could be performed at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore where quite a number of children have been successfully treated for the disease that prevents the blood from clotting and causes profuse bleeding.

On October 21, while the child suffered from a nose bleed that had started three days earlier and continued uninterrupted, Mr. and Mrs. Bittner began the trip to Baltimore with Barbara Anne.

"She was very weak and we were worried that our little girl would die before we reached the hospital," her father recalled after being informed that Barbara Anne was up and walking around the hospital.

On November 8, the day the operation was scheduled, Rev. Gordon Hall, pastor of Zion Methodist Church, Cumberland, visited the critically ill child and baptized her before she entered on the last known hope to cure the disease.

"It was wonderful," Bittner recalled, "even when we visited her the following day the constant bleeding from her nose and eyes had stopped and color begun to return to her cheeks."

On November 9, the Bittners returned to Cumberland where their five other children, all older than Barbara, were awaiting news of their sister.

Yule Street Decorations To Be Strung

Will Be Lighted Thursday Night

Christmas decorations will be festooned over Baltimore Street this week, Harry B. Williams, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce decoration committee, announced last night.

Williams said the committee hopes to have the decorations lighted by Thanksgiving night.

Several changes have been made in this year's decorations, Williams said.

Aluminum foil festoons, used throughout last year's decorations, will be almost completely replaced by laurel streamers.

Williams said stringing of the decorations has been delayed due to late arrival of 700 yards of strung laurel from South Carolina. The laurel is scheduled to arrive today or tomorrow, he said.

Potomac Edison workers will hang the decorations as soon as the laurel arrives, Williams added.

Centerpieces of this year's Stars of Bethlehem in four-foot wreaths flanked by lighted Santa Claus faces, and holly wreaths with 18-inch lighted plastic wreaths in the centers.

Three-foot double laurel wreaths will be placed on each lamp post. Twelve-inch aluminum foil roping will be used on the post decorations.

Meanwhile, it was announced that three more local stores will remain open each Monday night from tonight until Christmas. Nearly all Baltimore Street stores now will be open on Monday nights.

Boy Is Struck By Hit-Run Car

Police last night were looking for a hit-run driver after a 12-year-old Oak Street boy was knocked from his bicycle on Baltimore Avenue narrowly escaping with minor bruises on his hands.

Officer James Brown and Detective Ernest Powell said the boy, Elmer Siler, 12, was taken to his home by passersby and police were called from there. The front wheel of the bicycle was broken by the impact, they said.

The boy, police said, was unable to furnish a description of the automobile or the license number. Other clues were being checked late last night, authorities declared.

Charles Ginniman, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ginniman, Sr., 112 Utah Ave., fractured his left leg yesterday when his motorcycle ran against a fence on Williams Road.

He was admitted to Memorial Hospital at 3:30 p. m. and reported in good condition last night.

Legion To Study Distribution Of Welfare Funds

Will Pass On Use Of County Donation

Mountain District, American Legion, yesterday appointed a committee to decide how to distribute a $1,000 donation to the Legion's child welfare committee from the Board of Allegany Commissioners.

Paul C. Weisenmiller, district child welfare chairman, said the committee will meet Wednesday night at the home of Faraday Post No. 24 in Frostburg. A report will be submitted at the January meeting.

Appointment of the committee came yesterday during a District meeting at the home of Memorial Post, Mt. Savage.

Daniel Hershberger of Grantsville Post reported that conditions in the three Garrett County mining towns of Kempton, Kitzmiller and Vindex are "bad."

Weisenmiller indicated that funds donated by the County Commissioners will be used only for child welfare work in Allegany County.

A Garrett County delegation, he said, will meet with the Board of Garrett County Commissioners tomorrow or next Tuesday to ask for aid.

Protestburg was designated headquarters for welfare work in the Georges Creek section, while the Cumberland area will be served by the Cumberland post.

Weisenmiller said the Legion's stop-gap child welfare aid is available to any family in need of it, whether or not the head of the family is a veteran.

Frank Powers of Faraday Post, Frostburg, was named liaison man for the Georges Creek area.

John Devlin, manager, district commander, who presided at the meeting, announced that the state department commanders' and adjutants' meeting will be held Saturday in Baltimore.

Several area Legionnaires will attend. Among the guests are Howard M. Spiker, commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, Samuel A. Graham, chairman of the department child welfare commission, and Frank Webb, co-chairman of the district child welfare committee.

Joseph Carter, commander of Memorial post, opened the meeting.

He said the workers authorized their business agent to conduct the negotiations.

The company, he added, has proposed that the present agreement be extended for another year.

Mine Families Receive Three Tons Of Food

Groceries Donated By Rubber Workers

Almost three tons of food supplied by members of the Rubber Workers Union here were distributed last week to needy coal mining families of 17 communities in the George's Creek area.

The small amount of groceries provided generous supplies of staple foods to almost 80 of the neediest families who were recommended by United Mine Workers locals of that section.

By Friday afternoon, after 76 food baskets had been handed out at the Salvation Army Citadel, which cooperated in distribution of the food, only odds and ends were left.

Three other miners who came late that afternoon were taken care of, although it was not possible to provide the full variety included in the baskets issued earlier that day.

260 Children Helped

About 430 members of Local 26, U.M.W. (CIO), in a voluntary drive conducted the week before, gave $434 in addition to food to help tide the miners over until they get a pay check.

Rubber Workers pointed out that 260 children were helped directly through the project.

Only seven of the 76 families aided were without children. Size of other families ranged from one to nine children.

The largest group — 14 families — included those with four children. Next were three-children families, with 13 added. Eleven families had two children, 10 had one child, eight had six children, there were five five-children families, five seven-children families, two with eight children, and one with nine.

Early last week, about 2½ tons of food was turned over to the Salvation Army, which distributed the supplies to mining families in Eckhart, Frostburg, Lonaconing, Midland, Piedmont, Wright's Crossing, Hoffman, Pekin, Midlothian, Ocean, Woodland and Charleston, Barton, Franklin, Carlos, Knapp's Meadows and Zihlman.

On Thursday, money which was donated early last week was used to buy 12 more picnic hams and 500 additional pounds of potatoes.

R. C. Burkhardt, president, and Ralph C. Beard, who headed the Rubber Workers food drive, commended the Salvation Army for the "wonderful job" it did in distributing the supplies.

Hopes For Other Aid

Burkhardt added that he hoped "the eyes of other people will be opened to the distress of our neighbors," so that they may "see the seriousness of conditions and inaugurate other programs to help (the miners) in their time of need."

Major Elmer Wall, commander of the Salvation Army, one of Cumberland's Community Chest agencies, said he was glad to assist the miners, adding, "my own father was a miner."

Major Wall said he was sure a lot of good was accomplished by the food which "helped out in an emergency."

UMW locals of the area provided transportation to the Citadel, where the supplies were issued.

Most of the food baskets contained a picnic ham, a slab of side meat, a generous bag of potatoes and such staple foods as rice, macaroni, cheese, lard, oleomargarine, corn meal, sugar, milk. Variety was provided with actual food donated by the Rubber Workers.

New York Vets May Apply Here For Bonus

Local veterans who are former residents of New York City may apply for their state bonus benefits without residing in New York, beginning January 1.

Thomas Kilduff, assistant service officer of the Maryland Veterans' Commission, said application blanks may be obtained at the local office of the Commission in the Liberty Trust Building.

Kilduff said a veteran must have lived in New York for six months before entering service, must have served between December 7, 1941, and September 2, 1945, and must have been discharged under honorable conditions.

Bonus payments include $250 for service under the United States during the war, $150 for more than 60 days active duty in the U. S., and $50 for 60 days or less service in the States.

Weather

As if ashamed of its nasty disposition at the end of the week, the thermometer zoomed from a low of 38 to a high of 58 yesterday. Amazed churchgoers found the morning pleasantly sunny after going to bed in the midst of a miserable cold spell. However, it looks as if yesterday just had late-night special Sunday weather. The extra-special reading was 43 degrees and today's prediction is colder with snow squalls in the mountains.
